PRACTICAL HEAD AND NECK PATHOLOGY

offered by the

Massachusetts General Hospital, Department of Pathology
Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, Department of Otolaryngology

JUNE 15-17, 2012

at the

Fairmont Copley Plaza, Boston, Massachusetts

under the direction of

WILLIAM C. FAQUIN, MD, PHD
JENNIFER L. HUNT, MD

G. PETUR NIELSEN, MD
PETER M. SADOW, MD, PHD

Head and neck pathology is a subspecialized and highly challenging field where diagnostic pitfalls are common. This course will address this problem by focusing on diagnostic issues such as the interpretation of small biopsy specimens and how to avoid diagnostic errors. The course is designed to provide a comprehensive review of head and neck surgical pathology including the upper respiratory tract, sinonasal cavities, thyroid, parathyroid, salivary gland, skin, inflammatory disease, soft tissue, and oral cavity lesions. An emphasis will be placed on important practical issues for the general as well as subspecialized surgical pathologist. In addition, the course will also review the use of ancillary studies and fine needle aspiration (FNA), as well as recent advances and new entities in the field. While the course will be primarily in lecture format, it will include frequent discussion periods, and each participant will receive a comprehensive course syllabus.

The course will feature Dr. Bruce Wenig as the BZ Pilch Honorary Lecturer who will be giving two lectures: Neuroendocrine tumors of the head and neck, and Selected pathology of the nasal cavity and paranasal sinuses.

The Harvard Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Harvard Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of 22.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ACGME COMPETENCIES: This course is designed to meet one or more of the following Accreditation Council of Graduate Medical Education competencies -

- Medical knowledge
- Patient Care
- Practice-based learning and improvement

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: At the end of this course, you will be able to -

- Apply histomorphologic criteria to the diagnosis of a broad range of head and neck surgical pathology specimens
- Recognize and avoid common pitfalls in head and neck surgical pathology
- Apply appropriate ancillary studies in the evaluation of head and neck specimens
